Griselda Trujillo, Nogales Border Patrol explorer, simulates taking Airman 1st Class Daniel Belk, 755th Aerospace Maintenance Squadron, into custody on a C-130 here. The Nogales Border Patrol Explorers are made up of local 14 to 21 year old youths who are interested in a career in law enforcement. The Nogales Border

Patrol Explorers are training for the Law Enforcement Explorer Tactical Competition being hosted in Chandler, Ariz., Jan. 17 through 19. One of the events being held this year will be a simulated assault of a C-130 transporting known hostages.

TriWest members beware Sensitive materials taken; offices in Phoenix suffer loss

By Tech. Sgt. B. Coors-Davidson
355th Wing Public Affairs

Most Davis-Monthan Air Force Base members and their families are in danger of having their identity stolen after the recent theft of personal data from TriWest headquarters in Phoenix.

The TriWest office was burglarized Dec. 14 and computer equipment was stolen.

The equipment contains confidential and personal files of more than 500,000 military, retiree and family members including their names, addresses and Social Security numbers. In some cases, credit card numbers were included in the compromised information.

"The identity of those who committed this crime and the motives behind the crime are not known. While information has been compromised, we do not have any indication that anyone's personal information has been or will be misused," said Dave McIntyre, president and chief executive officer of TriWest Healthcare Alliance. "The very possibility, however, that it could be misused calls for action on our part to educate our customers with information that will allow them to take steps to protect themselves."

TriWest serves the Department of Defense in meeting the health care needs of more than 1.1 million military members including active duty, retirees and their families in 16 states, including Arizona, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Utah, Wyoming, New Mexico, Nevada and a small portion of Western Texas.

The case is being investigated by the Phoenix Police, Defense Criminal Investigative Service and the FBI.

Commissary restrooms

Concern: Does the commissary have hourly checks of the rest rooms? There is only one roll of toilet paper and that is about gone. There are two towel dispensers but only one is working, and there are a whole lot of drips around the toilet. I would complain to a manager but you can never find one. It seems to me they could work it out so there is a manager in the office at all times; they can rotate on and off. Thank you.

Response: Thank you for giving us an opportunity to address your concerns. The commissary rest rooms are cleaned by a contractor every two hours or as needed. However, if you feel that cleaning is required, we would appreciate patron's help by letting an employee know that the rest room needs attention. Also, if at any time you are in need of a manager and do not see one, please ask any employee so that they can call one for you.

Split tree

Concern: I live in base housing near Lowell Smith Elementary. I have a tree in the backyard that grows oranges. Recently some strong winds split this tree in half and it has been leaning on the house every day since. My wife and I made several calls to base maintenance and left several messages. We were told there were many trees down in the area, and that trees are being removed on a priority basis. How come when it comes to cutting the grass, I'm told that I live in a very-important-person area and it must be cut in a timely matter, but I can't even get a broken tree removed out of my yard.

Response: Thank you for your call. I apologize for the delay you encountered in getting your request to the proper office to assist you. We blew it! We have some new personnel at housing maintenance that have now been informed of the proper procedures when calls are received which should be directed to the housing office for ground maintenance. After the storm a priority list was established for tree removal, trimming and removal of branches after the storm. Due to the extensive damage, it took quite a bit of time to get to all the houses. In the future, if you have any questions about housing, call Ruby Modica, housing manager, at 228-4264.

The 355th Equipment Maintenance Squadron C-130 Isochronal Shop is responsible for the in-depth minor and major inspections of Davis-Monthan Air Force Base's C-130 squadrons. Once they receive an aircraft for an inspection it is pulled into their hangar and prepped for an isochronal inspection. The isochronal inspection involves a multi-phase process including inspection, correction, lubrication and a scrupulous search for foreign object debris. After the C-130 leaves the hangar, the isochronal engine-run crew starts the engines to ensure smooth operation before the aircraft is returned to its squadron.

Air Force Contact Center adds new online self-service support

Help with personnel issues now available online

People can now get real-time help with personnel issues online, from anywhere in the world, thanks to new Web features offered by the Air Force Contact Center at Randolph Air Force Base, Texas.

The online features, found at the Air Force Personnel Center home page at www.afpc.randolph.af.mil by clicking the "contact center" button, let users view a database of frequently asked questions, chat online with a customer service representative or submit queries via e-mail.

Answers to questions about personnel information, pay, assignments, benefits, employment and more are easily accessible for Air Force active-duty members, retirees, civilians and dependents. Limited services are also available for guard and reserve members. In addition, agents can be reached toll-free at (866) 229-7074, for those customers who prefer to speak to someone directly.

"Our goal at the contact center is to help people by providing a proactive approach to online customer support," said Maj. Alessandra Stokstad, chief of the Air Force Contact Center. "Air Force people can search our ever-expanding database anytime or chat live with a customer service representative, 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. central time, Mondays through Fridays. Features like this are a convenience in more than one way.

"These new features will be especially helpful in times of high deployments and ops tempo where people don't have the time or opportunity to go to their [military personnel flight] for help," said Stokstad. This system is much more practical because of online-chat opportunities alone.

"Online chat is a very convenient means of communication," said Master Sgt. Dave Melnick, Air Force Contact Center systems manager. "Customer service agents are here to answer questions that can't be found in our [frequently asked questions] database."

First-time users of the contact center online are asked to create an account which will allow customer service representatives to know who they are assisting and help speed the process.

Customers can also send questions to the help desk through the

"Ask-A-Question" e-mail feature, said Melnick. People who submit questions to the contact center usually receive a response within two days.

"We foresee the contact center becoming a key customer service tool for the total force," said Stokstad. (Courtesy of Air Force Personnel Center)

Estate claims

Any person having claims against the estate of Airman Ryan Lodding, deceased, 355th Component Maintenance Squadron, should contact 1st Lt. Paul Schwennesen, summary court officer at 228-3680.

Vehicle registration reminder

All personnel are reminded that vehicles with expired decals will not be allowed onto the installation. Vehicle registration can be accomplished at the visitors center on Craycroft Road adjacent to the main gate Mondays through Fridays 6 a.m. to 10 p.m., Saturdays and Sundays, 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. and at pass and registration in Building 3200 Mondays through Fridays 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. For more information, call 228-3224.

Wing escorts needed

A key to D-M's success is the quality of people selected as a wing escort during an inspection. Qualifications for escorts are: grade of E-5 or higher, 18 months retainability at D-M, integrity and willingness to work long hours on an inspection. For more information, call 228-4047.

Executive officer slot

The 355th Maintenance Group is looking for a lieutenant or captain to take their executive officer position. Today is the last day for interviews. Submit names of those interested or questions to 1st Lt. Rachel Bryant at 228-4770.

Christmas tree recycling

Christmas tree recycling is available at the base recycling center until Jan. 17. Trees must be in designated areas and free of all decorations. For more information, call Joe Uremovich at 228-2296.

Family support center opening

The D-M Family Support Center is accepting applications for the position of the family support NCO. This position is a three-year controlled tour, special duty assignment for a technical sergeant and a reporting date as early as Jan. 31. Application packages should be submitted to the family support center no later than Jan. 18. For more information, call William Eptrecht at 228-5690.

New IDs to bring D-M deeper into digital age

By Staff Sgt. Russell Wicke
355th Wing Public Affairs

The Air Force's new Common Access Card will be available for issue to active-duty military members at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base Jan. 30.

The CAC, designed to replace the military identification cards, will launch the military deeper into the digital age with its 32-kilobyte memory chip, magnetic strip and bar code that will be used for digital signatures, e-mail authorization and, eventually, building access.

Though this 'smart card' will be available Jan. 30, mass issuance isn't expected until mid-June, said 2nd Lt. Crystal Schuh, 355th Mission Support Squadron chief of customer service.

"We expect [all active-duty] here at D-M to be carrying this card by October 2003," said Schuh, "but we may have to push that date back." When mass issuance begins, Schuh said each squadron will have a time window of days for members to get their CAC. Although it takes a little longer to get a CAC than an old ID card, the time it does take is fairly minimal.

According to the Navy Temporary Issuance Site Daily Composite Report, the average time it takes to issue an individual a CAC is 12 minutes. However, times will vary from five to 25 minutes.

Despite the minor bother of transitioning to the CAC, this smart card is expected to have a big return on time investment. According to Schuh, these cards will eliminate hours of paper work for deployments. The microchip stores more than 30 separate pieces of information about the individual it represents. Schuh believes the card will be capable of holding more information as technology progresses.

According to the CAC Web site at www.dmdc.osd.mil/smartcard/owa/ShowPage?p=index, only individuals who have authorization to perform normal identification processes and run CAC applications have access to the information on your CAC. For example, if your card contains dental information, only someone who has an authorized application can access the data in your dental file.

"They also offer more security when sending e-mails," said

A look at the new Defense Department common access card. With a 32 kilobyte embedded computer chip, magnetic strip and two bar codes, the "Smart Card" will eventually replace the standard military identification card.

Schuh. "Along with the card, members will be given PINs to be used in conjunction with the card to eliminate the security hazard of a lost card."

For more information on the CAC, visit the Web site listed above or call Schuh at 228-4478.

NCOs display Christmas spirit by assisting veterans

By Senior Airman Troy Hawkes
355th Wing Public Affairs

The 355th Wing Top 3, 12th Air Force Top 3, the Chief's Group, the First Sergeants Association, 12th Air Force chiefs and the Air Force Sergeants Association helped brighten the holidays for hospitalized veterans by delivering care packages and hosting a party Dec. 28.

"The veterans association came up with the idea of having a party for all the veterans hospitalized over the holidays and I was asked to head up the project," said Master Sgt. Richard Goldman, D-M Top 3 president.

"We began by soliciting gifts; namely tube socks, knit watch caps, baseball hats, AM/FM radios, hand-held electronic games, candy, lap blankets, toiletries, new or used books and crossword puzzles or word search books.

"The entire D-M community; active duty, retirees and civilians responded in force. It was amazing how willing everyone was to help those unable to be with their loved ones over the holidays."

Goldman said they collected almost everything they needed the first day. The remainder of the week was used to target the items they were short on. By the end of the week, they had everything they needed.

ditioned the shipment to make sure we had them in time for the party. But most of all, I would like to thank team D-M for all their support. Without it, we could not have taken on such a large project. Thanks to their hard work, we collected more than $5,000 worth of donations.

"We made over 170 packages. Saturday, December 28, we went to the hospital to hand out the packages. Most of the patients were assembled in the auditorium for an afternoon of food, entertainment and presents. For those patients unable to attend, we personally delivered their packages and wished them a happy holiday season.

"It's hard to describe the looks on the patients' faces. They made it all worthwhile. Being that Christmas is the season for giving, we were able to give them something more important than the presents. We let them know they had not been forgotten."

manders and service leadership," said Dr. William Winkenwerder, Assistant Secretary of Defense. "We have also sent a healthcare information technology team to review TriWest security procedures and to make suggestions for improvements. Additionally, we have advised our other TRICARE contractors to immediately review their security measures and take appropriate actions to ensure protection of our beneficiaries' information. This incident is a serious matter; personal information and records security are prime concerns for the Military Health System."

TriWest beneficiaries who have received a notification letter that their information was included on computer equipment stolen should contact each of the three major credit bureaus to place a fraud alert on their credit file and to get a credit report. These reports are free.

The Defense Department, after learning of the theft from TriWest Dec. 20, began working with them to ensure uninterrupted delivery of medical benefits in the wake of the break-in. As more information is known about the theft, the department will ensure that TriWest will be in touch with affected beneficiaries.

TriWest is posting a $100,000 reward in an effort to help federal investigators obtain information leading to the arrest and prosecution of those responsible for the crime.

"We are working to keep our customers informed by contacting the potentially affected individuals or families by mail, as well as building an e-mail system, a Web-site and a call center to provide information and answer questions about this issue and the safeguards they can take to protect themselves," McIntyre said.

Anyone who has information that may be helpful to this case, should contact Silent Witness at 1-800-343-TIPS. The Department of Defense Hot Line number is 1-800-424-9098.

TriWest has established an e-mail address, computertheft@triwest.com, that offers an immediate response with detailed information to assist beneficiaries; they also set up a toll-free telephone number, 1-888-339-9378, that beneficiaries may use to gain information.

The three major credit bureaus to be contacted for fraud alerts are listed below

Anyone who discovers that they are a victim of identity theft should:

First, close or suspend any accounts that have been tampered with or opened fraudulently.

Second, file a police report with the police in the community where the identity theft took place. Get a copy of the report.

Third, file a complaint with the Federal Trade Commission. To file a complaint, go to www.consumer.gov/military and select the appropriate branch of the military or call the FTC identity theft hotline at (877) 438-4338.

The fraud alert is effective for 90 days after notification. The credit reporting agencies are:

Chief Master Sergeant of the Air Force Gerald Murray praises, advises enlisted force capabilities

By Chief Master Sgt. of the Air Force Gerald Murray

To the members of the best enlisted force in the world:

My first few months as the chief master sergeant of the Air Force have been busy, challenging and rewarding. What an exciting time to serve our nation. The best part of this job is getting out and seeing the great things our people are accomplishing. I'm always amazed by your selfless dedication and ceaseless efforts, and I brag about you to whoever will listen.

But while we have accomplished great things, new challenges are continually on the horizon. I want to talk for a moment about some of those challenges and how I believe the enlisted corps can propel our Air Force through them.

It should be apparent to all of us that the high operations tempo is not going away any time soon. Our end strength numbers appear to be steady for the near future, and our commitments around the world continue to

Final Answer

What TV show do you refuse to miss and why?

2nd Lt. Robin Smith
355th Comptroller
Squadron

"I watch Disney because that's what my daughter likes."

Staff Sgt. Brandi Dahl
355th Wing
Command Post

"None. There are not any shows that are more important than family, study, or 'me' time ... except Big Brother when in season. All that gossip and hormone craziness, who would miss it?"

Airman 1st Class Justin Hall
612th Combat Operations Squadron

"I love Mork and Mindy, when Robin Williams breaks through the big egg at the beginning just cracks me up every time I see it. Nanu! Nanu!"

Staff Sgt. Peter Vaiasuso
355th Component Maintenance Squadron

"Gilligan's Island, because I'm waiting to see how they are going to get off the island."

Col. William George
355th Wing
Inspector General

"Star Trek Enterprise, because it reminds me of when I was a young captain in charge of a B-52 crew - the most exciting years of my Air Force career."

Staff Sgt. Dianna Patterson-Williams
355th Contracting Squadron

"Smallville. The early years of Superman have never been told with the mythos of the original comic books. It shows really great family values."

grow. Those are the realities.

Senior leadership knows how hard you're working, and we're refining the air expeditionary force process each cycle to give you and your families the most predictability possible in the world in which we operate. We're working quality of life issues to give you the best benefits and pay you deserve for your hard work. You are our first priority.

The rest is up to you.

I believe it is the enlisted force that will shape the way the Air Force meets the challenges of this century. Of the approximately 364,000 people in our active duty Air Force, about 293,000 proudly wear stripes on their sleeves.

Add to that the Air National Guard enlisted—approximately 98,000, and another 59,000 in the Reserve, and the enlisted force makes up a large part of our total force team. We need each and every one of those people operating at their maximum effectiveness to meet and exceed the demands on our force.

What does that mean to you?

Airmen—we need your enthusiasm, energy and technological expertise focused on the mission every day.

Remember that being a good follower is a prerequisite to being a good leader. Be proud of what you do and the contributions you're making to keep our nation free.

Junior NCOs—You are our front-line supervisors. We are depending on you to shape airmen and to give them the tools and training they need.

Get back to the basics of face-to-face leadership. No one knows your people like you do.

Train them, care about them, hold them accountable, reward them, then sit back and watch them soar.

Senior NCOs—You've been around the block. Take that experience and focus it downward toward your people. Move obstacles that keep them from efficiency. Listen to their fresh ideas and be their advocate. Make those that come behind you better senior NCOs than you and I are today.

Remember that the most important job you will ever have is the one you hold right now.

Guard and Reserve forces—Your contribution to our mission is critical. As you continue to stand shoulder-to-shoulder with your active duty counterparts, know that a grateful nation recognizes and appreciates what you are doing for our country.

To all of you—The role of the enlisted force is more important now than ever. Our Air Force will continue to evolve and transform. New technologies and more joint operations are on the horizon.

The one constant will be our nation's reliance on you to make the mission happen every day.

Thank you for what you're doing for our Air Force, and this great nation.

“I believe it is the enlisted force that will shape the way the Air force meets the challenges of this century ... The one constant will be our nation's reliance on you to make the mission happen every day.”

Don't let a rigorous schedule or frequent relocations keep you from a better future. Whether you're aiming for military advancement or pursuing a civilian career, a college degree can be a major factor for success. However, many think military life and higher education don't mix, given the demanding duties and frequent relocations. At University of Phoenix, military professionals earn their bachelor's or master's degree in the most efficient way possible. By attending one class and one learning team meeting per week, most students complete their degree in 2 to 3 years. Military training and prior professional training can qualify for college credits.

A CARONDELET HEALTH TIP

Watch Your Step

by John P. Powers, DPM, Podiatric Surgery

Every day your feet endure roughly 8-10,000 steps. Many women endure those steps in high heels. This is the primary reason women have, according to the American Podiatric Medical Association (APMA), about four times as many foot problems as men.

High heels may be a major problem for women, but they aren't the only problem. Pregnancy and age are just some of the factors which play a role in foot health.

The APMA determined that high heels — pumps with heels of more than two inches — are biomechanically and orthopedically unsound. High heels may contribute to a variety of foot problems including knee and back problems, injuries resulting from falls, shortened calf muscles, and an unnatural gait.

If you're a slave to fashion you can alleviate some of the high heel damage. Limit the time you wear high heels by alternating with more comfortable, naturally fitting shoes for part of the day.

Nylon stockings can cause foot woes, too. Because nylon doesn't breathe it creates a warm, damp area around your feet, inviting fungal infections (athlete's foot). The abrasiveness of nylon combined with a tight-fitting shoe is a recipe for blisters. Even more detrimental are tighter fitting support hose.

Pregnant women should take special precautions with their feet. Pregnancy changes the entire body, but supportive, shock-absorbing shoes with broad-based heels help swollen feet and ankles to bear the weight of those changes. A podiatrist should be seen if unusual foot discomfort is experienced.

Fat pads on the bottom of the foot deteriorate as you age, so older women experience more foot trouble than younger women do. Cushioned shoes are crucial, as is a soft flexible upper that conforms to the natural shape of the foot. Wearing leather shoes that "breathe" help prevent skin irritations on the feet.

If you experience continued pain an examination by a foot and ankle specialist is in order. Attempts at self-treatment can cost you not only time and money, they might make the problem worse. Preventing foot problems can be as simple as a wardrobe change and a little extra care — a small price to pay to avoid the agony of "de feet."

Military humor

During training exercises, a young lieutenant was driving down a muddy back road when he encountered another car stuck in the mud with a red-faced colonel at the wheel.

"Your jeep stuck, sir?" Asked the lieutenant as he pulled alongside.

"Nope," replied the colonel, coming over and handing him the keys, "yours is."

Having just moved into his new office, a new colonel was sitting at his desk when an airman knocked on the door. Feeling extremely conscious of his new position, the colonel quickly picked up the phone, told the airman to enter, then said into the phone, "Yes, general, I'll be seeing him this afternoon and I'll pass along your message. In the meantime, thank you for all of your good wishes, sir."

Feeling as though he had sufficiently impressed the young enlisted man, he asked, "Now, what can I do for you?"

"Nothing, sir," the airman replied, "I'm just here to hook up your telephone."

Left, preliminary examinations are performed on an individual wishing to be placed on the bone marrow donor list. Potential donors undergo blood tests and physical examinations after being chosen as matches by the Department of Defense Marrow Donor Program. Right, Staff Sgt. Jennifer Lane, 355th Wing Administration, donates bone marrow in an attempt to help out a two-year-old recipient. If a donor had not been found, any common illness, due to resulting immunity problems, could have led to the boy's death.

D-M Member donates for life

In the news today, a majority of it seems to cover the negatives in the world; death, destruction, terrorism, murder, poverty and injustices. In December a Davis-Monthan Air Force Base NCO did her part to break that trend by helping save the life of a two-year-old boy after she was found to be a positive bone marrow match.

Staff Sgt. Jennifer Lane, 355th Wing Administration information manager, had a simple blood test in 1997 in order to have her name added to the Department of Defense bone marrow donor list. Lane was surprised when a call came in November to inform her that, out of more than 4 million donors, she was a match.

According to the Tucson Bone Marrow Center it is difficult to find matches for bone marrow transplants. Hospital doctors usually have the ability to test family members of a patient in need of a transplant. If a family member isn't a match, doctors can access the registry to find a possible donor.

However, after leaving the immediate family, the chances of finding a plausible donor in the registry are very slim.

"I had forgotten I was even on the list," said Lane. "But I was honored when the center called me. I felt like it was something you only see on TV as something other people are doing."

After several blood tests and a complete physical examination, it was confirmed that Lane was a positive match. Lane was then put on convalescent leave and the DoD bone marrow donor center flew her to Washington D.C. Dec. 16 in order for her to complete the donation process. In addition, the center also bought a plane ticket for Lane's father to accompany her in the event she became ill during the procedure.

Upon arrival at Georgetown University Hospital, Washington D.C., Lane was informed of the medical procedures necessary to collect her bone marrow. The process of preparing her marrow for withdrawal involved four injections of Filgrastim, a medicine that prepares the marrow for transplant, and took four days. Each day her blood pressure and white blood cells were monitored to make sure everything was running smoothly. The daily process took about an hour.

"The first day I was fine after the injection," said Lane. "We got to see some of the tourist sights in D.C., but the following day, after the second injection, I just slept."

On the third day Lane started to feel ill, but tried to fight through it. On the fourth day Lane was admitted to the hospital at 6:30 a.m. with symptoms of nausea and general sickness.

On the fifth day the actual donation process began. In order to expedite the process, and due to the fact that Lane's veins were so small, they inserted a catheter into her jugular vein, a vein in the neck near the carotid artery. Transplanting the bone marrow took approximately four hours, after which Lane was released.

"I would absolutely, no questions asked, do it all over again. Knowing that I helped save a human life fills me with such a feeling of warmth that it's overwhelming. Through the last forty-eight hours, when I was feeling at my worst, I had no problems moving on with the process because I thought about the life that would start anew because of me."

According to Soky Peru, Tucson Bone Marrow Donation Center bone marrow recruiter, the process to become a marrow donor is very simple. "By giving a blood sample, a person's blood can be evaluated and their information is added to the anonymous system," said Peru. "Just by getting tested, a person can potentially save another's life."

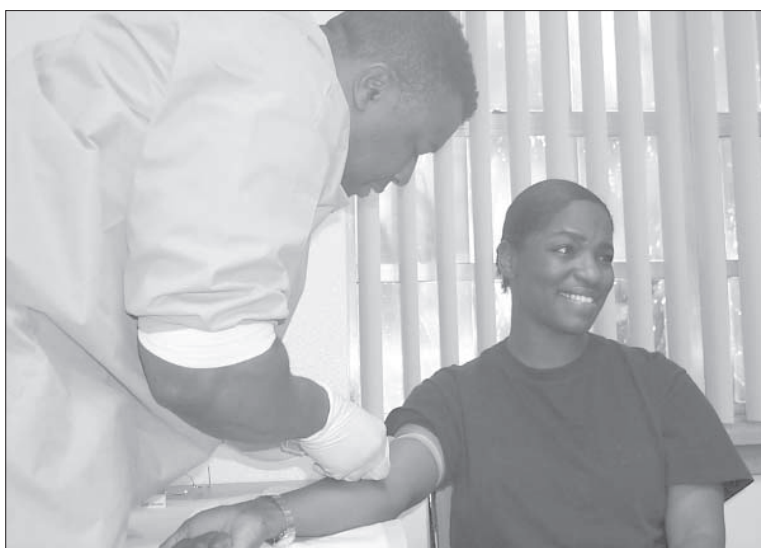

"While we always need donors," Peru added, "We are currently experiencing an extremely high need for minority donors." According to Peru, more lives could be saved if a greater number of minorities were to become donors.

"Bone Marrow is something I would never miss physically by donating, but makes a lifetime of physical difference to another," said Lane. "The whole experience allowed me to slow down during these busy times and be grateful for the life that I live today."

According to Lane, in the event a match is made, a potential donor has the right to decline with no questions asked.

In a world where bombs, fires, earthquakes, tornadoes and hurricanes make the headlines on a daily basis, Lane has done her part to add a bit of happiness to the news. If you are interested in doing your part by becoming a marrow donor, contact the Red Cross Southern Arizona Chapter at 318-6740.

(Courtesy 355th Wing Public Affairs)

Esteban De Anda

Staff Sgt. Shanda De Anda, 355th Wing Public Affairs, prepares to have blood drawn as one of the preliminary procedures before she can be placed on the marrow donor list. Once on the list, she can be called at any time to help save the life of someone in need.

Anyone interested in trying out for the following sports needs to submit an Air Force Form 303, to the fitness and sports center.
Wrestling – March 3 to May 6 at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho (Form 303 deadline is Jan. 17)
Cross Country – There is no Air Force camp (only Armed Forces) ... (Form 303 deadline is Dec. 30)
Bowling – March 5 to 13 at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas (Form 303 deadline is Jan. 20)

Basketball – March 18 to April 3 at Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. (Form 303 deadline is Feb. 3)
Center officials highly recommend the Form 303 be submitted early. For more information, call Jay Junsay at 228-0021.

Fitness Factoid
Heart-pumping exercise - Like any muscle, your heart needs regular exercise to maintain its strength. In fact, health officials now consider physical inactivity a major threat to cardiovascular health, equal to smoking or high blood pressure. Physically active people generally have a lower risk of heart disease than inactive people; it is proven they live longer and more independently. (Courtesy of fitness and sports center)

Boot camp class
A new, intense, military-style class, under the leadership of certified instructor Spring Clegg, began Wednesday and incorporates elements of cardio, strength conditioning, speed and plyometric drills, circuit training, core strengthening and stretching. The class meets every Wednesday at noon in the Haeffner Fitness and Sports Center. The first class is free ... $2 thereafter. For more information, call 228-0021.

Tae Kwon Do classes
Tae Kwon Do classes are being offered at the youth center. Space is limited. For fees and other information, call 228-8844.

HOMELAND HEROES

You are the American spirit.

When needed, you answered the call to serve your Nation. And even when you return to civilian life, your service to your community and country will still matter. You can continue to serve by becoming a member in your hometown Air Force – the Air National Guard.

In return for your part-time service, the Air National Guard will

- Count time served on active duty toward your Air Guard retirement
- Recognize the military rank you held at time of active duty discharge
- Offer additional training in your field or a completely new career
- Provide eligibility for the VA Home Loan Program
- Reinstate many of your active duty military benefits

Enter a new era of military service.
Call 1-800-864-6264 today for more information.

Education Services

MGIB transferability test program

The Montgomery GI Bill transfer program has been approved. Eligibility is only for the following Air Force speciality codes: officers 32E, 61S and 62E and enlisted 1N3XX, 3E7X1 and 3C0X2. Members must be category one MGIB and need to have completed at least six but not more than 12 years of active duty. If participating, members need to complete at least an additional four years of service. For more information, call Phil King at 228-4249.

Air War College

The course hold over AWC is currently processing the backlog of enrollments that were submitted over the last several months. AWC will send an e-mail advising students that they have been enrolled. For more information, call Phil King at 228-4249.

MGIB/VEAP conversion payment

Payment of $2,700 must be made within 18 months of the day an individual signed the Department of Defense Form 2366. For retiring or separating individuals, finance does not make a pay reduction for the last month of active duty. Check your Leave and Earning Statement since the pay deduction may not have started until a month or two after the election.

Commissioning program changes

Effective immediately, Officer Training School will not accept any non-technical applicants until October. Non-technical applicants with class assignments are currently on hold until August. Rated and technical applicants may continue to apply. The Reserve Officer Training Corps is not accepting any non-technical applicants until 2005.

Course 5 revision

The Air University commander has approved transition of Air Force Senior NCO Academy Course 5 to Course 12. All students enrolled on or after Aug. 28 will receive the new Course 12 materials starting in January. Students currently enrolled in Course 5 may continue until completed. Course 5 students will be allowed a one-time opportunity to switch to Course 12 when it is activated. Students will have 90 days from the Course 12 activation date to disenroll from Course 5 and enroll in Course 12. For more information, call Phil King at 228-4249.

Family Support Center

Smooth Move

There is a Smooth Move briefing Jan. 15 from 8 to 11 a.m. in Building 3200, Room 266 to help prepare individuals for a PCS assignment. For reservations, call 228-5690.

Hearts Apart Pizza Party

If your spouse is on remote, TDY or an extended deployment join the Hearts Apart group at Chuck E. Cheese for pizza, soda and games Jan. 18 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. For more details, or to register, call 228-5690.

Baby Basics

There is a Baby Basics program for expectant mothers Tuesday from 1 to 4 p.m. in Building 4220. Information is provided on basic infant care, growth and development. Free baby bundle is provided to Air Force mothers. For more information, or to sign up, call 228-5690.

Playgroups

The family support center offers Time for Tots Tuesdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. It is an opportunity for children under the age of four years to play and sing with their parents and other children. Another playgroup is Funtime which meets on the first and third Thursdays of the month from 9 to 10 a.m. Children make a different craft each week. Both groups are held at the Desert Dove Chapel. For more information, call 228-5690.

TAP Seminar

There is a Transition Assistance Program Seminar Jan. 22 through 24 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Building 3200, Room 266. The seminar focuses on preparing departing service members to conduct an effective job search in the civilian marketplace. Individuals retiring are eligible to attend two years prior to their retirement. Others separating can attend within a year from separation. For reservations, call 228-5690.

Deployment assistance

The family support center Readiness Program has a variety of deployment assistance services available to family members when the service member is deployed including free weekly morale calls from your home, free monthly family activities, video teleconferencing and more. For more information, call 228-5690.

Movies

Movies begin at 7 p.m. unless otherwise noted. Admission is $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12 and senior citizens. Admission is for ID card holders and their guests only. For the theater movie recording, call 748-1157.

Friday: Extreme Ops (PG-13)

While taping extreme sports enthusiasts being chased by an avalanche in the Austrian Alps for a commercial, a film crew accidentally records the secret hideout of a Serbian war criminal. Soon they become locked in a life-or-death chase through the mountains that includes skiing, snowboarding, sky diving, white water rafting, motor-cycles and base jumping. 1 hour, 33 minutes

Saturday 2 p.m.: Santa Clause 2 (G)

Scott Calvin, who has been Santa Claus for eight years, has his world turned upside down when he discovers that he must marry by Christmas Eve. Desperate, he replicates a toy version of himself and leaves his double in charge. Things quickly go south at the North Pole when Santa 2 institutes some strange redefinitions of what's naughty and nice, leaving the future of Scott's family, the North Pole and Christmas itself to hang in the balance. 1 hour, 45 minutes

Saturday 7 p.m.: Emperor's Club (PG-13)

William Hundert is a passionate and principled Classics professor who finds his tightly-controlled world shaken and inexorably altered when a new student walks into his classroom. What begins as a fierce battle of wills gives way to a close student-teacher relationship, but results in a life lesson for Hundert that will still haunt him a quarter of a century later. 1 hour, 49 minutes

Sunday: The Truth About Charlie (PG-13)

After her husband mysteriously turns up dead, Regina learns that he actually had assumed multiple identities and stashed away 6 million bucks. But where's the money? Soon there's a crew of thugs claiming that the loot is theirs and no one is who they seem. 1 hour, 50 minutes

Other Base Happenings

Enlisted Spouses Association

There is an ESA meeting Jan. 21 at the enlisted club. Business portion to begin promptly at 6:15 p.m. with social immediately following. This month's theme is White Elephant. Remember, children should not be present at meetings. For more information, call Dena Wakefield at 747-3461.

Investing for the Future

The Black Heritage Association hosts a financial seminar Jan. 24 from 11 to 1 p.m. in the Palo Verde Room at the officers club. There is a 50 guest maximum and all must sign up to attend. Cost, which includes a catfish buffet and drinks, is $6.15 for members and $8.45 for non-members. To sign up, call Tech. Sgt. Shonda Stripling at 228-5461.

OSC/ESA scholarship applications

Officers Spouses Club/Enlisted Spouses Association scholarship applications for the 2003-2004 academic year are now available. There are three scholarship categories: graduating high school senior, continuing education and spouse scholarships. All applicants must be dependents of active-duty, retired, National Guard, Reserve or deceased members from any branch of the Armed Forces. Applications must be post-marked by March 1 and can be picked up at the officers and enlisted clubs, base library, family support center, education office, Thrift Shop and community center. High school seniors may also pick up an application from their school guidance counselor. For more information, call Cindy Scott at 514-1031.

MLK Memorial Service

There is a Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Service Wednesday at 11:30 a.m. in the Hope Chapel. Chaplain is Arthur Tigney.

Piano lessons

Adult and youth piano lessons are offered at the community center Mondays through Wednesdays and Fridays. Weekly lessons are $55 a month for 30-minute lessons or $65 a month for 45-minute lessons. For more information or to schedule lessons, call Ludy Salvatus at 572-8871 or 228-3717.

Airman's attic

The airman's attic, located on the second floor of Building 3220, is open Mondays and Thursdays from 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. They are in need of furniture, maternity clothes, kitchen items, tools and serviceable BDU's. For more information, call 228-4098.

Thrift shop

The D-M Thrift shop, located across from the Bowling Alley, is open Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Consignments are taken until 1 p.m. To reserve space for large items and furniture, call 228-2120.

Pet adoption

Dogs are available for adoption every weekend. For more information on location and times, call 977-8641.

IDEA Program

The Innovative Development through Employee Awareness is a way for members to submit ideas to improve processes, products or equipment in the interest of national defense. An IDEA can be worth a monetary reward. While one individual is designated the primary contact and completes the submission, any number of people may collaborate on an idea. An IDEA can only be evaluated one time at base level. Coordinate with another agency if more information is needed before inputting your evaluation into IPDS. For more information, call Robin Perry at 228-4332.

Fort Lowell Shootout

Volunteers are desperately needed for the Fort Lowell Shootout, the largest youth tournament of its kind in the United States. Every January, more than 4,000 youth soccer players between the ages of eight and 16, gather for the showdown at the Shootout. Volunteers are needed Wednesday through Jan. 19 for a variety of jobs including construction and concession stands. To volunteer, call Cathy Nicholson at 626-3114, 498-0757, 444-8625 or email: maryn@u.arizona.edu.

SACASA volunteers needed

The Southern Arizona Center Against Sexual Assault is seeking caring, compassionate and motivated people to become Crisis Advocates. Bilingual advocates are desperately needed as well. SACASA provides a range of services to victim/survivors of sexual assault, including crisis intervention, counseling and community education/outreach. Support is also offered to friends, family members and significant others of survivors of sexual assault. A wide variety of volunteer opportunities are available. For more information, call Lily De Santiago at 327-1171 ext. 114 or e-mail at ldesantiago@sacasa.org.

SOUTHERN ARIZONA

To Our Nation's Finest:

On behalf of the management team and employees of TriWest Healthcare Alliance, I want to express my regrets about the recent theft of computer equipment from a TriWest facility in Phoenix, Arizona on December 14, 2002.

This is a matter of grave concern to everyone in our company and throughout the Military Health System. We have been working around the clock, in cooperation with the military's health leadership, to notify the TRICARE Central Region beneficiaries of precautionary measures they can take to help protect themselves against potential fraudulent use of their personal information.

TriWest is working with the Defense Criminal Investigative Service, the FBI, and other local, state and federal law-enforcement agencies to identify, apprehend and prosecute those responsible for this crime. To provide them with an additional tool, we have posted a $100,000 reward for information leading to the arrest, prosecution and conviction of those involved. Please call Silent Witness at 1-800-343-TIPS if you have any information concerning this crime.

I am pleased to report that TriWest continued without interruption to provide our beneficiaries in the Central Region with access to health care services.

My mission, and that of all TriWest employees, is to provide our beneficiaries with the highest quality service. We will strive to do "whatever it takes" to retain your trust in our ability to provide all TRICARE stakeholders—beneficiaries, providers and the Department of Defense—with the finest in customer service.

Sincerely,

David J. McIntyre, Jr.
President and CEO

Cancer Treatment Research Foundation

Skin Cancer: The Most Common Cancer

Skin cancer is the most common kind of cancer today. There are an estimated 300,000 to 600,000 cases of melanoma and non-melanoma skin cancers. While it is the most common of cancers, it is also one of the most curable forms of cancer.

Prevention is the best fight against skin cancer. The following are important measures to take in the prevention of skin cancer:

- Wear spf 30 or higher when exposed to the sun
- Wear clothes that cover much of your skin while in the sun

- Locate shaded areas when in sunlight for extended periods of time
- Sun tanning of any type should be avoided
- Protect the head, face, neck and eyes at all costs
- Schedule outdoor activities when UV levels are minimal, such as in the early morning or late afternoon.
